

Residential Care Options

Finding the Right Fit for Your Family

Determining when it is time to transition from home to a residential care setting can be very difficult. This program is designed to guide caregivers through the process of selecting the most appropriate care setting; providing an overview of the options and highlighting factors to consider when choosing this new home. The session also emphasizes the legal and financial considerations associated with moving an individual to a residential care setting. Techniques for making the adjustment easier for the person with Alzheimer's disease as well as for other family members are also discussed.
